(3 KIDS are talking about what they got for Christmas. Fill in the blanks with current popular toys)

KID 1: Hey guys! Did you have a good Christmas?

KID 2: Yeah, mine was great!

KID 3: Mine, too, how was yours?

KID 1: It was great! My dad got me _____.

KID 2: Oh cool! My dad got me _____.
What did your dad get you?

KID 3: My dad got me a rock.

KID 1: Oh... I see.

KID 2: Hmm... well, you'll never guess what my mom got me. She got me _____.

KID 1: Neat! My mom got me _____.
How about you?

KID 3: My mom got me a rock.

KID 2: Oh, another rock?

KID 3: Yeah.

KID 1: I see. Well, you won't believe what I got in my stocking! I got _____
_____.

KID 2: That's awesome! I got _____
_____.

What did you get in your stocking?

KID 3: I got a stocking full of rocks.

KID 2: Aw, I'm sorry you had such a crumby Christmas!

KID 3: What do you mean?

KID 1: Well, you got nothing but rocks! That's so awful!

KID 3: No way! I love rocks!

KID 2: You do?

KID 3: Yeah, rocks are my favorite thing ever! I want to be a geologist when I grow up, you know.

KID 1: Ah, of course! Sounds like your Christmas totally ROCKED!

(The other two KIDS groan at the pun)

KID 1: What? I thought that pun was "rock solid." You guys really take my puns for "granite."
